Bureau des Conventions

Dear Industry Colleague

We are happy to invite your Company as a Partner to the 7th International Giardia and Cryptosporidium Conference (IGCC) that will be held on 23 to 26 June 23 2019, in Rouen, Normandy, France. The Conference will be hosted by the Faculty of Medicine and Pharmacy, at the University of Rouen. Based on the attendance of previous editions of IGCC, a dedicated group of 250 to 300 participants from more than 25 countries (scientists, clinical laboratory experts, human and veterinary medicine specialists: gastroenterologists, pediatricians, infectious disease and tropical medicine specialists, and students...) with special interest in Parasitology-Microbiology, are expected to attend and discuss key basic and clinical research developments.

International Giardia and Cryptosporidium Conference

This event which is the premier scientific meeting on giardiasis and cryptosporidiosis, takes place every 2 years alternatively in the Americas, Europe and Australasia (lastly in Amsterdam, Morelia, Orvieto, Wellington, Uppsala and Havana), and will be held for the first time in France in 2019.

Aim

While giardiasis and cryptosporidiosis are the first cause of parasitic diarrhea in the world, and cryptosporidiosis ranks among the most important causes of infant diarrhea in developing countries and neonatal calf diarrhea worldwide, the knowledge on Giardia and Cryptosporidium biology and pathogenesis of infection remains incomplete.

IGCC is expected to disclose most recent findings on physiopathology, epidemiology, standardization of laboratory diagnostic methods and therapeutic options which are needed to improve, in a "one health" approach, the clinical and public health management of zoonotic giardiasis and cryptosporidiosis and their outbreaks in Humans and animals.

Program

Topics will range from basic research on host-parasite relationships, genomics, cell biology and macrobiotic interactions to more applied topics relevant to diagnosis and therapy, and to environmental research relevant to waterborne transmission.

Keynote lectures will be presented by recognized experts in the field, and research findings will be presented and discussed as oral presentations and poster sessions to promote interdisciplinary perspectives and encourage collaborative research.

Organization

IGCC 2019 is supervised by an International Scientific Committee composed of key experts. The Organizing Committee manages IGCC 2019 on behalf of all French research groups presently involved in human and veterinary giardiasis and cryptosporidiosis, including: University of Rouen-Normandy, Rouen Hospital University and the French "Centre National de Référence-Laboratoire expert Cryptosporidioses", Ecole Nationale Vétérinaire d'Alfort, INRA, ANSES and Société Nationale des Groupements Techniques Vétérinaires.

Public exposure

Recent waterborne outbreaks have attracted renewed interest in giardiasis and cryptosporidiosis from health authorities and the general public in France and worldwide, thus significant media exposure of IGCC is expected.

Partner support

Support from our partners has been instrumental in maintaining the quality of the IGCC in the past, and we would greatly appreciate any financial commitment that your Company is able to provide.

As a trusted organization, your involvement would also help to highlight the Conference, and partnering the IGCC 2019 will offer you an opportunity to promote your company's brand in front of key professionals and show our attendees your commitment.

Prof. Loïc Favennec
Chair of the 7th International Giardia and Cryptosporidium Conference
